This course examines topics in Latin American and Afro-Caribbean philosophy since the contact between ‘old’ and ‘new’ worlds in 1492. The readings are linked primarily to the political and cultural issues concerning race/ethnicity, gender, spirituality, resistance, and mestizaje. We will discuss the historical processes of conquest, colonialism, post-colonialism, indigeneity, environmental devastation, and globalization.