

SPRING 2007
Lectures

The Department of Anthropology
&
The Latin American Studies Center

lasc@umd.edu
www.lasc.umd.edu

"The Anthropological Encounter: Invisibilities and How to Manage Interactions Accordingly."

Dr. William Crocker
Curator Emeritus, Smithsonian Institution

In this presentation, Dr. Crocker will use his decades-long experience among the Ge-speaking Canela of the Brazilian Amazon to consider "that which cannot be seen to outsiders." In this way, Dr. Crocker will provide us with insights into the lives of individuals to one another, as well as our relationships to them. By demonstrating how peoples may differ in fundamental assumptions, yet share a more profound humanity, Dr. Crocker will address means of identity and relating across difference.

Thursday, May 24, 2007
2:00 - 4:00 PM
Woods Hall, Rm. 1102