

VICTOR JARA MEMORIAL FORUM

Chile's Folk Music Hero Remembered
in Song, Word, and Deed

Thursday, April 3
5:30 PM – 8:30 PM
0200 Skinner Hall

University of Maryland, College Park

In coordination with School of the Americas Watch (SOAW) and UMD-based student group Voices: Arts for Social Change, the Latin American Studies Center will host a night dedicated to Chile's folk music hero Victor Jara. Panelists Arturo Viscarra, Advocacy Coordinator, School of the Americas Watch; Diana Saéz, Founder and Conductor, Coral Cantigas; Karin Roseblatt, Associate Professor, Department of History; and Brandi Townsend, PhD Candidate, Department of History, will discuss the role of nueva canción in Chilean social movements and the campaign to extradite Jara's killer, Pedro Barrientos, from Florida to Chile to stand trial. Stop by for live music, engaging dialogue, and delicious refreshments.

PRESENTED BY

The Latin American Studies Center
School of the Americas Watch
Voices: Arts for Social Change